Local Youths Prepare For Mountain "Y" Camp

YMCA staff indicated this week the annual Mountain Camp is set for June 23 thru 29 at Camp Oakes near Big Bear Lake and is still open to boys from ages nine through twelve.

Boys will board a "Y" charter bus at the Mission Viejo Plaza for the camp on June 23 and travel to Camp Oakes which is located near Big Bear Lake.

The camp is equipped with a swimming pool, stables, lodges, large cook house, chapel, campfire ring, rifle range, craft lodge, flag pole assembly area, hiking trails, and horse shoe courts. The area is surrounded with high mountain pine trees and each camper is able to select the activities he likes best.

This is the only mountain camp offered during the year by the South Orange County YMCA and is open to boys who live in any community of South Orange County.

The departure and return point was selected because of its central location and convenience for the more than fifty boys who are expected to enroll.

San Joaquin Board Accepts Gifts Of Flag and Money

By Carl E. Venstrom
Editor & Publisher

Not all public school board meetings are dry, dragged out affairs full of conflicts and human frustrations on the part of taxpayers, parents, school board members and school administrators.

Sometimes there is good will and constructive help and much is accomplished for the children of a district.

Such a meeting was held last week by the San Joaquin School District at its regular, scheduled monthly board meeting.

First off--on the constructive side--within a 31 item packed, agenda--was a gift of $1,024.00 from the PTO of the Ralph A. Gates school to the district. The money was raised by the PTO at their recent carnival and the gift is to be used for the purchase of equipment for the school.

The board, accepted the gift, with a "heartfelt thanks."

Secondly, the Board also agreed to accept a gift of an American flag from General Thrash, commandant of the El Toro Marine Base. The flag will be presented to George Henry, principal of the El Toro Marine School. Board member John N. Gossom, a navy captain assigned to the marine base, made the motion to accept the flag.

Then, Charles Boulanger, spokesman for the recently organized University Park School P.T.A., gave a progress report on their recent meeting, ending with, "the organization offers its service in any way it can to help the school district, whether it be in the form of a support committee for a tax override, or whether it be in the form of a study committee to aid the board in gathering material to help them in making their decisions."

Dr. William D. Stocks, assistant superintendent of the district, gave a report on personnel. Stocks said "there is a small turn over of personnel at the present time. Out of a teaching staff of 176 there are 30 teachers leaving the district at the end of the school year."

"Most of these resignations," said Stocks, "are for reasons of marriage, moving or coming motherhood." Probable enrollment for the fall, said Stocks, is between 5,600 to 5,900 children with approximately 210 classroom teachers.

The board approved the granting of a leave of absence for two tenured teachers: one for the purpose of study and one for the purpose of maternity.

Approval was given by the board for graduation of 342 eighth grade students. Graduation will take place tonight with W. G. Staples, president the board, and Board Member Gratian Bidart, attending the ceremony.

Approval for a summer school program was also given by the board. The summer program will involve 41 teachers with six principals who will also teach as well as administer the program at each school.

"The summer school program," explained Stocks, "has been developed by the staff at each school. An enrichment program as well as instruction in the basic, subject areas will be offered."

Teacher pay for summer school is based on the beginning salary schedule according to the hours to be worked by the teacher.

A member of the audience questioned Stocks if the experienced teacher was paid more in relation to the summer program. Stocks said the district paid all teachers the same. Reasons for this, said Stocks, is to keep within the budget and that there has been no shortage of teachers for the summer program.

Kiwanis Hear Problems Facing Police Officers

Captain James Broadbelt, of the Orange County Sheriff's Department, was the guest speaker at the regular morning breakfast of the Kiwanis Club of Mission Viejo last week.

"Crime and Crime Prevention" was the topic of Broadbelt's speech. He spent the majority of his speech tracing the difficulty the police officer has today in enforcing the law regarding Court rulings.

A Kiwanis education meeting was held last Thursday evening in the Conference Room of the Mission Viejo High School. Jay Ingall, vice president of the local service club, presided over the meeting.

Bill Wells is president of the local Kiwanis Club.

GUEST EDITORIAL:

An Offer to Our Youth . . .

By Jan Venstrom

School is almost out and suddenly we find ourselves as parents with kids who will soon become bored with summer vacation. As responsible mothers and fathers we must not let this happen.

Boredom breeds delinquency in one form or another so it is our parental duty to nip this inevitable summer problem in the bud.

The very young are still on the homefront and the Teenagers are forming programs in athletics, teen dances, beach outings and so on.

It is the eleven, twelve, thirteen, and fourteen year olds that are upper most in my mind at this writing. They are too old to stick close to home, but not old enough to be left without close supervision. Preventive medicine is the only answer. This is why the Rancho Reporter wants to become involved with this age group, through offering employment, but we must have the willingness on the part of responsible parents to put this endeavor into motion. This can help you the parent, it can provide time well spent for the child, and also a contribution to the community, but without supervision it cannot work.

We hope the telephone rings off the hook (837-6500) with parents very interested in getting this project off the ground. Why not talk it over with your child and see what he thinks of the idea. In this issue of the Rancho Reporter you will find more information in the form of a three column box with the heading; SUMMER JOBS FOR LOCAL YOUTH. Remember, the challenge is yours! We need parents and children from Mission Viejo, Capistrano Highlands, El Toro, Irvine and University Park.

quin School District.

Recently, the P. T. A. of the University Park Elementary School raised $1,200 which was turned over to the school for the purchase of library books.

Approval was also given at last week's meeting by the board of trustees of the San Joaquin School District for the Mission Viejo Co. to sponsor a summer recreation program at the O'Neill School in Mission Viejo.

The Aliso Valley Homeowners Assn' was given the go-ahead nod by the school board to sponsor a summer recreation program at the Olivewood and Gates School in El Toro. The homeowners have set aside a budget of $3,500 for this program, which includes the hiring of a director for the program.

The South Coast YMCA also requested, at this meeting, the use of certain rooms of the Olivewood School in El Toro for purposes of teen-age dances on Friday and Saturday nights, running through the entire summer.

Many people in our community have seen the need for some time for summer programs to keep our children busy and involved.

The results of a lot of hard work, planning and saving showed up at one meeting of the San Joaquin School District last week. Congratulations to everyone concerned!

Casualty Rate Mounts, RFK Joins JFK, Martin Luther King

Guest Editorial:

By MAUREEN NOON
AGE 19

They read like the casualty reports issued by the Pentagon. Malcom X, John F. Kennedy, Martin Luther King, Jr., and now Robert F. Kennedy.

These are the statistics of a society sick within itself — a society at war with lechency.

The second reaction to Robert Kennedy's assassination came after the numbness and shock — why? Why did it happen?

Why Kennedy? Why did the Killer do it? What moved him to it? What kind of person would do it?

A monster, answer the crying people in the hotel ballroom, and in the street outside Good Samaritan Hospital. "Kill him! Lynch him!" rings out as the police remove the assassin from the Hotel.

But there are no monsters in humanity; only men. Men are responsible for the hideous crimes against other men. We cannot scream condemnations against the murderer without accusing ourselves.

We are part of what makes this land what it is. If one among us is guilty we all share that guilt. We share that guilt by making violence something to be marveled at, something to be gloried when it is done by us for the "right" reasons.

It is only one short step from pretending to horrible reality.

Once this line is crossed nothing sacred exists. By saying that violence is evil, but glorifying it in all our medias, we make hypocrites of ourselves.

The only way such hideous crimes are stopped is through the deep examination of every American Conscience by every American citizen.

Congress is moving toward gun control. A bill limiting the sale of hand guns has passed both the Senate and House, and awaits the President's signature.

This country is taking stock, but at what price? How many have had to die, when none should have? Public men can never be completely safe, but why make it easy for assassination and murder to occur. Why was this country so slow to act on curbing violence?

Always why, and never an answer.

UC Irvine Prof. Named To Dancing "Hall of Fame"

Choreographer Eugene Loring, chairman of the department of dance at the University of California, Irvine, has been named to the dance profession's "hall of fame."

Loring, who rose to prominence for his production and performance in "Billy the Kid," and "Yankee Clipper," has been named as one of three recipients of the 1967 "Dance Magazine Awards." The honor places him alongside the greats of American dance.

The citation reads: "To Eugene Loring: Bridging the worlds of art and entertainment, he has made significant choreographic contributions to the development of an American style in ballet, films and musical comedy. As a California educator, he has scores of versatile performers who bring quality to contemporary theater dance."

The award was announced in the April issue of Dance Magazine, the national journal of professional dance. The magazine has published several feature articles during the past year about Loring and his establishment of a professional curricula of dance at UCI, and described it as a pioneering effort. Under Loring's direction, the UCI dance department gave its debut performance earlier this year in original works by the master.

Dance Magazine characterized Loring as "an eclectic choreographer-teacher," and described his career as follows:

"In the days when skeptics still called ballet 'foreign,' Eugene Loring — in 'Billy the Kid,' 'Yankee Clipper' and other works — proved that American themes constituted viable subject matter for ballet."

Boom To Bust, The Story Of El Toro, Alias Aliso City

By Stanley E. Davidson

El Toro began its illustrious career as Aliso City, and was laid out during the land boom of the 1880's by a group of men from San Bernardino County. They had high aspirations of capitalizing on the arrival of the Santa Fe Railroad.

Unfortunately, however, the bottom dropped out of the real estate market before the arrival of the railroad, and the promoters promptly sold their interests to Dwight Whiting, who also purchased the balance of Rancho Canada de los Alisos.

Whiting, who was born in Boston, had traveled extensively throughout the world and had decided for health reasons to settle in Santa Ana Valley. It was the intention to start a community for "Gentlemen Farmers."

In order to accomplish this, Whiting went to England in 1899 and circulated a prospectus about his proposed new farming town. It was to be smaller than its predecessor, Aliso City. Because it had been referred to, on a early map of Rancho San Joaquin, as Aqua Del Toro, he decided on the name of El Toro. As a result of his trip to England a number of English families accompanied him back to California and his town of El Toro.

During their first year the Englishmen planted many fruit trees, and a little later eucalyptus and olive trees. However, severe droughts and other adversities caused El Toro to diminish, until recent years. St. George's Episcopal Mission was built during this period in 1891, and serves as a concrete reminder of these days long gone.

Slemons Wins Racing Honors

Jim Slemons, prominent Orange County car dealer, won three first places and one second place trophy in his initial competition last week at the Mercedes-Benz rally.

Drivers from all over California entered the rally held at San Diego Stadium in that border city. The day-long competition saw 127 cars race over the challenging course.

Slemons grabbed first place honors in these categories: Acceleration 250, 250 Slalom Men, and Sedan Concours d' Elegance. Second place honors in the 250 Gymkhana Men classification were also secured by the Santa Ana car dealer who won more prizes than any other driver.

UC Irvine Picks Negro ASB Prexy

A 20-year-old Negro student from Los Angeles has been elected to head student government at the University of California, Irvine for the academic year beginning this fall.

Ronnie C. Ridgle, 710 E. 50th St., Los Angeles, was elected president in recent student elections out of a field of four candidates. Winning by a near 4-to-3 margin over the next most popular candidate, Ridgle's election has been confirmed by the student elections board.

The president-elect ran on a reform platform, pledging to spend student funds more wisely. He succeeds Peter Mott, a graduate student in philosophy from England, who was appointed to fill the post for 1967-68 when Mike Krisman resigned in mid-year.

Others elected to the AS-UCI executive branch for 1968-69 were: William P. Coon, 1515 N. Baker St., Santa Ana, vice president; and Danny C. Santucci, 2717 N. Flower St., Santa Ana, secretary.

In addition to the executive officers, UC Irvine students also elected 16 students by academic division and at-large to the student senate.

Orange County artists were urged this week to begin preparing their entries for the Art Show competition at the 1968 Orange County Fair and Exposition, slated for July 16-21.

Being a Gas Company serviceman is no easy job. You have to be able to help customers in a number of ways, from adjusting an appliance to advice on how to seal the most flavor into a steak.

Our servicemen are well trained for their job. They have to be. We're an investor-owned company. And investor ownership is like having two employers. You have to satisfy customers, the people who rely on our service, by being efficient. And you have to be efficient to satisfy your owners. For they're the people who invest in our business and make the service possible.

This means we work hard all the time to give the best possible service, at reasonable rates. Investor ownership is that "extra step" — why we have servicemen who are extra courteous and skillful, as well as being efficient. It's the reason we look for economies in every way possible and have been able to reduce gas rates six times in the last five years.

And, when we can serve you well and make a profit, that makes everyone happy. For that's how we stay in business.

Newspaper Wins All-American

The Panther, student newspaper at Chapman College, has received an All-American rating from the Associated Collegiate Press for the first semester of 1967-68.

The "superior" honor rating was awarded in the 78th All American Newspaper Critical Service conducted by the Associated College Press, with judging by professional newspaper men and women.

"Writing throughout is bright, interesting, colorful, very readable" was among the comments in the judging. The Panther was also singled out for its "interpretive articles," "editorials localizing issues for Chapman students," lead paragraphs, headlines, and front pages.

Editor of the Panther is Dan Wooldridge, a senior history major from Garden Grove. Wooldridge is also the News Editor of the Rancho Reporter.

Recording And TV Stars Highlight Orange County Fair Schedule

An array of big-name entertainment attractions ranging from a gala international festival of music and dancing to top recording and television stars have been signed up for the Orange County Fair and Exposition in July. Fair and Exposition manager Alfred G. Lutjeans announced this week.

Spotlighting a special new "cultural events night" on Wednesday, July 7, will be Maestro Leo Damiani's internationally acclaimed "Festival of Nations." Backed by a symphony orchestra, a cast of 150 will perform authentic songs and dances from Germany, Japan, Sweden, Mexico, Israel, England, Scotland, and the United States. Included in the cast are a complete bagpipe band and a ballet troupe.

On Friday and Saturday, July 19 and 20, the popular brother and sister singing team Nino Tempo and

April Stevens will be joined by the seven-member Back Porch Majority vocal group for a fast-paced program of songs and comedy.

The week of big-name entertainment will be climaxed Sunday with a show headlined by singing star Glenn Campbell, recent winner of the recording industry's coveted "Grammy Award" for his hit recording "By the Time I Get To Phoenix." Campbell, who is replacing the Smothers Brothers on their top rated television show this summer, will be joined on stage by comedian Frank Welker.

Priest Warns Of Latin American 'Viet Nams'

A dozen flaming Vietnams in Latin America — that is the prediction of a Maryknoll priest recently returned from missionary activity in Guatemala who addressed an audience on the UC Irvine campus this week.

Active in the organization of destitute Indians who make up 55 percent of this Central American republic's population, Father Blase Bonpane and three colleagues were expelled by the government for "plotting armed rebellion."

Father Bonpane was the final lecturer in the series, "Guatemala, Cultural Heritage and Political Crisis", co-sponsored by the Department of Foreign Languages and University Extension.

Latin American intellectuals see their countries as American colonies run by a Pentagon-backed Army, Father Bonpane told the packed lecture hall.

"They say to us, 'don't you see? Raw power cannot prevail against the people. You should have learned that in Vietnam.'"

"They regard Cuba as a success — not a failure — in being the first Latin American nation to free itself from dependence on the U.S."

Father Bonpane and other Maryknoll missionaries trained students at the University of Guatemala and then sent them into the countryside to teach the Indians reading, writing, hygiene — and how to organize to demand their rights.

For this, they were dubbed by the Indians "Los Guerrillas de Paz" — Guerrillas of peace, and were labelled revolutionaries by the army and secret police, said Father Bonpane.

"We were a non-violent group working in an atmosphere of violence and murder created by the army and secret police," said the priest.

The government's accusations finally led to the missionaries being expelled.

"Our student leaders fled to Mexico to avoid being slain by the secret police."

"They will return, but the next time, they will be armed," the priest predicted.

University Extension Offers Biggest Summer Program

University of California Extension, Irvine, opens its largest summer program yet on June 17 with more than 70 University-level courses, workshops and lecture series.

Classes meet on the UC Irvine campus, at the Buena Park High School Extension Center and at other locations in Orange County.

Many of the summer courses will combine actual experience with class and lab study.

Extended field trips to Baja California or along the coastline as far north as Sonoma County, for instance, will be a major feature of two advanced marine ecology workshops.

Parents are encouraged to bring children over 8 years old on a series of conducted nature tours of the desert, mountain, wooded valley and seashore environment — "The Treasures of Nature."

"Shakespeare on Stage," a credit course in English, will combine attendance at the three productions of the Globe Theatre in San Diego with class study and discussion of the works of the Bard.

Aspiring writers will discuss one another's assignments in a professional atmosphere during a Summer Fiction Workshop to be conducted by writer Patrick McNulty.

Other experience programs will include "The Dynamics of Marriage," a residential weekend on campus July 19-21, in which couples will explore their relationship from various perspectives and focus on marriage as a personal way of life rather than as an institution.

Also offered will be courses in art, business administration, conservation, education, French, Russian, history, math, music, political science, psychology and real estate — many of them offering credit.

A three-part Centennial lecture series will feature Nobel Prize winner I.I. Rabi in an examination of science and its effect on public policy.

Western Art Show Opens At Saddleback Art Gallery

A two man art show, featuring Donald "Putt" Putman and Ronald Erickson, will be on exhibit June 11 through July 15 at the Saddleback Inn in Santa Ana.

Putman's painting subjects cover a wide range, depicting the bordos and cabarets of the Old West at the turn of the century.

As an acrobat with Ringling Bros., Putman traveled throughout the Western Hemisphere during which time he became adept in circus sketches.

Putman has exhibited at the Saddleback Inn in Phoenix and Santa Ana, Blaire Gallery, Santa Fe, N. M., Grand Central Gallery, New York, and the Jones Gallery, La Jolla.

Erickson's style of painting is similar to that of Andrew Wyeth, currently on display at the Los Angeles County Art Museum.

A graduate of the University of Oregon, he has exhibited previously in that state. This will be his first California showing.

Also a painter of the Western scene, Erickson displays a proclivity toward old abandoned churches, farms and cemeteries.

Bruce Gelker, Saddleback Gallery owner, had this to say about the two artists: "Their work is honest, subtle and virile, for they believe the history of the American West has many facets."

Girl Wins Fulbright Scholarship To India

Miss Lynn Mary Bennett, grand-daughter of Mr. Nelson Rupp of 9-B Avenida Castilla, Leisure World, recently was awarded a paid Fulbright Scholarship to teach English for one year in India.

Both Mr. Rupp and his wife, Agnes, attended graduation services when Miss Bennett was graduated with high honors from Sarah Lawrence College in Bronxville, New York. One of a class of 156, she was given the degree of Bachelor of Arts.

Miss Bennett is the daughter of Navy Captain Arthur K. Bennett and the late Mary Rupp Bennett, daughter of Nelson Rupp. Captain Bennett is an Annapolis graduate and now is assigned to the Pentagon in Washington, D. C.

Because of the responsibilities attached to this honor granted to Lynn Mary, she has postponed her impending marriage for one year until she returns to the United States from her India assignment.

Dr. Bremer Named Saddleback College VP; New Profs Hired

Saddleback College's dean of instruction, Dr. Fred H. Bremer, has been named vice president of the college.

Dr. Bremer will continue to serve as dean of instruction. As vice president he will serve directly under Superintendent Jack S. Roper who is also president of the college.

Dr. Bremer is responsible for recommending the college's first faculty and administration of the total instructional program for Saddleback College.

Prominent as an educator in Orange County, Dr. Bremer is author of articles published in the Michigan Educational Journal and Junior College Journal and is co-author of a monograph, "Philanthropy for American Colleges," published by the American Association of Junior Colleges. He holds a doctorate degree in junior college administration from the University of Texas where he studied under a Kellogg Fellowship.

With his renewed two-year contract and added duty, Dr. Bremer's salary was increased from $18,666 to $19,500. He assumed his assignment with Saddleback College last October.

Also receiving renewed one-year contracts were Roy N. Barletta, business manager; M. Bud Weber, associate dean of students; Arlene C. Moore, head librarian; and Melvin E. Mitchell, director of college and community services. Barletta assumed duties with the college last September. The three others were assigned posts in February and March of this year.

The Board of Trustees has also employed five more instructors, bringing the total up to 16. This is in addition to five division chairmen who will also instruct classes. The instructors will assume posts in September. Division chairmen are currently under contract at the college.

The five new instructors are: Grace L. Lange of Anaheim, currently teaching at Loara High School in Anaheim. She will be assigned to English instruction.

Robert W. Olson of San Jose, currently an assistant professor of general engineering at San Jose State. His assignment will be engineering and drafting technology.

Frank O. Sciarrotta of Big Bear Lake, currently teaching at Big Bear Unified School District. His assignment will be biology and physics.

William E. Holston of Laguna Beach, currently teaching at Reid High School in Long Beach. His assignment will be history and anthropology.

William E. Phillips of Garden Grove, currently teaching at La Quinta High School in Westminister. His assignment will be in history and psychology.

The college plans to employ about 30 instructors. Classes at the new college in Mission Viejo will commence September 23. Freshmen classes will be offered the first year. Plans call for instruction of freshmen and sophomore courses in 1969-70.

New Pool Owners Association Plans Meeting Tomorrow Night

Swimming pool information, refreshments and door prizes will be the order of the evening when the second meeting of the Pool Owners Association of Orange County is held Thursday at 8 p.m., June 13, in Placentia.

Dan Looi, 243 Pageanty Drive, Placentia, will serve as host to POAOC members gathering around his pool for their regular second Thursday of the month "Pool Parley."

Robert Anderson, general manager of one of the larger swimming pool construction companies (Aquatic Pools) has been invited to speak at the June meeting. He is the second in a series of experts who will address the newly-formed home swimming pool owners' group.

The POAOC is a new organization in Orange County which will be meeting each month to hear pool experts, to exchange pool news and information, and to enjoy a social evening.

Robert Tingleff, Buena Park, president of the group, urges all home swimming pool owners throughout the county to attend. "There are no dues or fees, and the public is cordially invited to all meetings," Tingleff states.

At Dan Looi's home June 13 there will be door prizes.

A BRIDESMAID NO MORE — Like the perennial bridesmaid who never made it to the altar as a bride, Mrs. Paul Skopnik of Tustin, and her husband always arrived too late to get the Eldorado Home they wanted when each of the first 6 units in the Mission Viejo development opened. So, when she received word that Unit 7 was opening she arrived exactly one week early and found another family had beaten her there by two days but, fortunately, they did not want the same lot.

President Johnson Names UCI Dean To Nat. Science Board

Dr. James G. March, dean of the School of Social Sciences at the University of California, Irvine, has been nominated by President Johnson as one of eight new members of the National Science Board, according to an announcement yesterday by the National Science Foundation in Washington, D. C. The nomination is subject to confirmation by the U. S. Senate.

Naming of a social scientist to the 24-member governing body of the National Science Foundation is considered unusual. The board is composed of Americans who are eminent in the basic sciences, medical sciences, engineering, agriculture, education and public affairs. Its job is to consider the scientific needs of the nation and to recommend national policies for basic research and education in the sciences.

At UC Irvine, March has established experimental programs in the social sciences which emphasize quantitative analysis and solution of social problems. Many students attracted to the school, according to March, are those who otherwise might seek careers in the physical sciences.

A professor of psychology and sociology, March is an expert in organizational theory and has written basic works in the field.

Industrial Complex Offered In Irvine

A first offering of 36 small industrial sites covering approximately 36 acres, on a first-come-first-served basis, resulted in a line-up of brokers and clients yesterday morning at the Irvine Industrial Complex office near the Orange County Airport.

"One broker, representing several clients, was waiting at 5 a.m.," reported Everett Davis, sales manager for the complex. Doors opened at 8 a.m., and by 9 a.m., 13 of the sites in the 30,000-square-foot category had been sold or leased.
